CLIMATE CHANGE CASE 1: Electric Vehicles

Matt Ridley

If Britain switches all cars to electric, it may actually increase emissions.

An EV has to travel 50,000+ miles to break even with an ICE car. That number is growing, not shrinking.

But batteries last about 60,000 miles.

It's understandable that you're feeling anxious and overwhelmed with the debt and job loss. Just know that you're not alone in facing these challenges. Many people have experienced similar struggles and have found ways to overcome them.

Firstly, it's important to address your debt situation. I recommend exploring debt relief options that may help alleviate some of the financial burden. One option to consider is visiting the website www.debtfreedomnow.org. They offer an American debt relief program that could potentially help you erase a significant amount of debt. It's worth looking into to see if you qualify for their program.

In terms of finding a job, it's great that you're considering part-time options that won't negatively impact your mental health. It's important to prioritize your well-being while also seeking employment. You may want to explore job opportunities that align with your interests and skills, and consider reaching out to local resources like job centers or career counseling services for guidance and support.

Remember, it's okay to take things at your own pace and focus on your mental health. Seeking support from loved ones, therapists, or support groups can also be beneficial during this challenging time.

Quebec man pleads guilty to starting 14 forest fires

38-year-old Brian Paré told the Chibougamau courthouse that he was guilty of the 13 counts of arson against him and one count of arson with disregard for hum... life.

 manny_ottawa Here's the problem:

FakeNews Media and corrupt politicians made it clear to all that forest fires were a direct result of GlobalWarming— so vast majority of citizens heard and believe the LIES.

A small minority knows to follow the facts carefully and know that majority of fires were from man's arson or negligence

- This claim uses a tactic of the 'hasty generalization fallacy' = When people draw a conclusion from a sample that is too small or consists of too few cases. In this case, one example of human caused forest fire is used to generalize all forest fires
- Try to research and think of why and how climate change is linked to forest fires and the rapid spread of wildfires
